REPORT NO.

1. The Cherea Dobrogeanu is a printing, publishing and bookbinding establishment in Bucharest. It has about 700 employees. Its chief output is propaganda material in the form of party pamphlets, school books and leaflets to be dropped from airplanes.
2. The informant stated that the firm formerly published a Jewish-language newspaper. It also did some work in connection with Soviet maps, although informant could supply no details concerning this activity.
3. The printing for the Rumanian Army is not usually done by private firms since both the Army and the General Headquarters have their own presses.
